In-Depth Interviews with Project Staff

Title: Strengthening FP/RH services for women living in humanitarian settings in Borno and Cross River States, Nigeria

Funder: USAID

Site(s): Multiple sites in Borno State where the IHANN project is active and in Cross River State where the UNHCR SS-HNIR project is active

Introduction

Hello. My name is _____, and I work for the firm AHEAD, which is a partner of FHI 360 and EVIDAF.

Information about the study

We are interested in learning about how family planning and reproductive health programs in humanitarian settings are being modified in response to COVID-19. The information we gather will be used to inform these programs in the future.

We are asking staff from two different family planning and reproductive health programs in Nigeria to join our study and participate in a phone interview. I would like to speak with you as a member of the _____ project staff. The interview would include questions relating to how COVID-19 has impacted your program activities and your ideas for improvement. If you decide to participate in this interview, the interview can start right after you consent to participate, or we can schedule it at a day/time that is more convenient for you. The phone interview will take about 30 minutes.

Confidentiality

With your permission we will audio record the phone interview and take notes. If you do not wish to be recorded then you cannot participate in this interview. Your identity will be kept confidential and we will not associate your name with what you say. Any information we collect which clearly identifies you (for example, your phone number) will be kept confidential to the best of our ability. This information will only be shared with those working on this study. Other information you provide that does not directly identify you will be shared with others. We may include direct quotations from you in our report, but we will not identify who said the information or include any information that could identify you.

Possible risks

There is a risk that someone might learn that you participated in this study, or the responses you gave, but we will take steps to ensure confidentiality by storing audio recordings, transcripts, and data safely on secured computers. We will destroy the audio recordings after we have analyzed them. The information you provide will not be shared with your supervisor or impact your employment, and the name of your facility will be removed before any data are shared publicly to further protect you and your privacy.

Possible benefits

Although you will not directly benefit from participating in the phone interview, the information you provide us may help us to improve family planning and reproductive health programs in humanitarian settings in the future.
